The Republican revival is a bitter pill for the Democrats. It is a bitter pill for the cause of the revival of trade and the success of resumption.

The Democrats are disappointed and are more than half mad because they cannot hear more about the "bitter and unrelenting" warfare going on between Governor Smith and ex-Governor Lullington.

The City Times in commenting on Joe Rankin's call for a Democratic State Convention, says it trusts the Democrats will send up a "full delegation." Democratic delegations are usually full, so the editor of the Times will not be disappointed.

The great side show at the State fair will be the Democratic Convention. It will be amusing to see Joe Rankin standing on a little box at the door of the Democratic tent urging the people to pass in and take a look at the great moral show.

The officers at West Point are using their utmost efforts to put an end to the disgraceful custom of hazing. It is no less than insubordination, coupled with the lowest degree of rounism and coarse brutality. It is condemned by every officer in the army and at West Point, and some of the officers at the Academy are so indignant at the recent hazing that they recommend that the entire Third Class suffer expulsion; but General Schofield takes a calmer and a more considerate view of the question, and has recommended the dismissal of those only who are known to have been ring-leaders in the acts of blackguardism and cruelty. He hopes to root out the evil, and will exercise every power known to his position to accomplish the object. It is high time something was done to put down insubordination at the Military Academy.

The Court of Errors and Appeals, of New Jersey, has finally granted a new trial to Mrs. Jennie R. Smith and her paramour—Coyett D. Bennett. One year ago next Saturday night, Mrs. Smith and "Covey" Bennett successfully carried out a plan to murder her husband that all obstacles to their marriage might be removed. Mr. Smith was a police officer in Jersey City, and a man very highly respected. Bennett and Mrs. Smith had fallen deeply in love, and as there was no hope of getting married so long as Mr. Smith was living, she conspired with Bennett to make way with him. While there was no absolutely positive evidence that the foul murder was committed by them, the circumstantial evidence against them was remarkably strong, so that in the mind of the Judge before whom the case was tried, and the jury who were to decide upon the guilt or innocence of the parties, there was no doubt as to the guilt of the defendants. They could not satisfactorily explain their whereabouts on that fatal night; and further than that, Mrs. Smith said that she slept with her husband all that night and the morning woke up and found him dead. But this was an impossibility. Mr. Smith was severely stabbed in several places, and his throat cut, and blood covered the entire surface of the bed. The night clothes which Mrs. Smith said she wore that night were produced in court, and on them there was not the least trace of blood! The Court of Errors and Appeals, however, has granted a new trial, and now the plan is to attempt to prove an alibi on the part of Bennett, but what course will be taken in regard to Mrs. Smith, is not known. A change of venue will be taken, as much prejudice exists in Jersey City against the condemned parties, though on account of Mrs. Smith's remarkable beauty and her winning accomplishments she has many friends who have been witnessing in their efforts to secure a new trial for her. The opinion now is that enough testimony will be trumped up to secure their acquittal, and no doubt this will be the result of the second trial. The case in its details is very similar to that of the Mack murder, though the testimony against Mrs. Smith is much stronger than that against Mrs. Mack. There is a vast difference, however, in the conduct of the guilty parties. In the Mack case, Dickerson "squealed" on the woman making her the chief instrument in the diabolical murder, while in the Smith-Bennett case, they pledge each other that they will "sink or swim, survive or perish," together.

THE WISCONSIN DEMOCRATS.
It is very evident that the Democrats in this State will endeavor to take a new sheet this fall. They have espoused every possible side of financial heresies, have blown hot and cold on the currency question, have gone before the people without any fixed principle or definite policy, and now they are farther from success than ever. They are some honest money men in the Democratic party, but comparatively there are but few. The leaders of the party—such as Joe Rankin, Chairman, Gabe Bouck, Edward S. Bragg, and a few others, are anything for voters. Political honesty with them is only a pious lie, and they think they serve themselves and the party best when they try whatever means are handiest to carry their point. With this record, some who have said or done little, but thought much, are dissatisfied, and this class want the party to appear somewhat honestly this fall in regard to the question of money. They want a hard-money man nominated for Governor, and resolutions adopted endorsing resumption—which only a year ago they cursed in the most violent language. But it is not likely these well-disposed men will exert much influence in a Democratic State Convention. It is a poor place to talk first principles, or to attempt to make the crowd believe that there is such a thing as common sense or honesty in matters pertaining to finance. The better class would take up Alexander Mitchell, but he will hardly consent to become a leader of the florid hope. Joe Rankin would prefer Bouck, who is as reckless on all matters pertaining to finance as any man in the State. Bouck is a candidate, and is now at work testing his chances in the political balances. He will have the support of those anything-but-beat-Grant Democrats and unless those are in the majority who believe it is time for the Democrats to cover their tracks on the financial as well as many other questions of national importance, Bouck will probably go out of the Convention with the nomination in his pocket.

Whatever may be the result of the nomination which meets on the 9th of September, there is not a Democrat who has allowed anyone to hear him say that the Democratic candidate can be elected this fall.

MEMPHIS.

Eight New Cases and Four Deaths—Other Fever Items.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 29.—There were eight new cases reported to the Board of Health to-day.

Four deaths from yellow fever were also reported by the undertakers for the twenty-four hours ending 6 p. m.

Colonel John F. Cameron succeeded last night in establishing a camp six miles south of the city. He has named it Camp Marks, in honor of the Governor. One hundred and twenty-five tents were erected before daylight this morning. About fifty persons were taken down to the camp this afternoon. If the weather clears up a much larger crowd will go tomorrow. All those going down to day were whites. The negroes so far refused point blank to go into camp, and after all there is a prospect of trouble.

The authorities are prepared for any emergency that is likely to arise, and it is only a question of time and hunger that will force the blacks to show their hands. Business even among the few retailers that keep open, is reported dead. There are three long weary months in store for all who are here in this stricken city.

A RIVAL FOR MEMPHIS.

A Disease Similar to Cholera Ravaging Center Point, Iowa.

DEBQUE, July 29.—A disease akin to cholera is ravaging Center Point, Linn County, in this State. Fully twenty persons have died within the past thirteen days, and an equal number are prostrated by it. The disease is also raging in Walker, a little town seven miles from Center Point, several deaths having occurred there. An order for forty coffins was received from Center Point to-day by a Dubuque undertaker. The physicians of Center Point are worn out, and residents are fleeing from the place.

HIGH LIVING.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Those gentlemen who may desire to serve the country in the capacity of Minister to England may also like to hear what the necessary expenses are above the salary. The salary is $17,500, and the minimum additional expense is placed here by those who have the best means of knowing at $24,000 per annum. This added sum makes provision only for such a style of living and entertaining as is inseparable from the position. Some of our ministers have expended nearer $40,000 above their salaries, but it is regarded here as possible to do all that the position calls for by an extra outlay of $24,000. These figures were furnished two years since to the friends of a gentleman who was named in connection with the place, and who desired before deciding whether he could accept it, to know the extra expenses, so as to determine whether he could afford to incur the necessary outlay from his private means.

HANGED.

Kate Webster Hanged for the Murder of Her Mistress.

LONDON, July 29.—Kate Webster convicted of the murder of Mrs. Julia Martha Thomas, her mistress, at Richmond, was hanged to-day at Wandsworth Prison. She confessed that she committed the murder, and that she had no accomplices, either in the commission of the crime or in the disposal of the remains of the victim. The murder of Mrs. Thomas was one of the most remarkable crimes on record. Mrs. Thomas was a widow lady in comfortable circumstances, residing at Richmond, quite alone save for the company of her servant. The latter became infatuated with a married man named Church, and conceived the idea of murdering her mistress, poisoning her with arsenic, and disposing of her body by throwing it into the river. She carried out her part with great deliberation, murdering her mistress by strangling her to death on Sunday afternoon, July 17, in March. She dragged the body to the cellar of the house, where she directed it, and by the aid of a saw and ax cut it in pieces. The body of the murdered woman was destroyed by burning. The woman Webster then wrapped up some fragments, and placed them in a wooden box, which she managed to carry to the river and throw over a bridge. These fragments were found and identified some time after the murder was committed. Meantime Webster, in connection with her paramour, Church, had sold much of the property of the murdered woman, and they were on the point of removing the remainder of the furniture when some suspicious of the neighbors were excited, and Webster became alarmed. She went to Ireland, where soon after she was arrested.

PLAIN TALK.

New York, July 29.—The Herald has an open letter to Tilden, this morning, wherein it says: "You can never be President of the United States, Mr. Tilden; and with your clear head and practical mind you ought to see this as everybody else sees it. You have doubtless certain power in your party, for you can probably ruin its chances, if you want to, by forcing it to take you, or by leading a faction to defeat it if it refuses to submit to your demands. Either would be fatal to the Democrats next year, and the first, in our belief, even more certainly so than the last. We will not here refer to certain disagreeable events in your career, because that would be unkind, and you are now addressing us in the most friendly spirit. We will not allude to your unfortunate income tax suit, with its painful adjuncts; nor to the still more unfortunate cipher dispatches; nor to your relations with the late William M. Tweed; nor to your relations to certain shipwrecked railroads. It is not necessary to refer to these matters, Mr. Tilden, for the truth is, there are other reasons besides these to prevent you from becoming President. You are undoubtedly an able man, but your action in partisan politics is disastrous to the party which you seek to control. You follow your own career with such unflinching determination that you notoriously forget everything else, and the politician of which it is generally suspected that he means to either rule his party or ruin it cannot expect long continued success. You succeeded once. You became Governor of New York. You ought to have seen that this was properly the end of your career as an officeholder.

MISSOURI MATTERS.

TO THE GAZETTE.
LONDON, Atchison Co., Missouri, July, 28.—After a three months' sojourn in Atchison county, I may be capable of speaking with some degree of certainty as to the condition of the inhabitants and the value of the county as an agricultural district.

Atchison county is situated in the northwest corner of the State of Missouri, and with the exception of the bluffs along the Missouri bottom, consists of beautiful rolling prairie land, the soil fertile and from three to twelve feet deep. The streams, however, are miserable failures, crooked and muddy and flowing so deep in the ground that a stream one could step over requires a bridge twelve or fourteen feet in length, but the county is now very well supplied with bridges, and traveling across the county is attended with far less difficulties than formerly.

The inhabitants of the county are mostly intelligent, enterprising people, intent upon building themselves comfortable homes and making Atchison county one of the best counties in the State. There are a few Southerners here, but the greater part of the people are from the North, Ohio, Wisconsin and Illinois being well represented. The farmers have nearly all got through harvesting, and threshing has begun. Grain is not yielding heavily this season, the dry weather of last spring having hurt the crop. Corn is looking splendidly, and will without doubt be an immense crop. A great amount of corn is raised here every year, and is fed without grinding. Cattle for the feed lot are always in great demand, and are now held at $3.00 to $3.25 a hundred. The county is setting up very fast and wild land getting scarce every day. There are two new railroads being put through the county this season, which will place Atchison county on a level with her sister counties, and then let the best one win. Come to Atchison county if you want a home in one of the best counties in the State, more anon.

THE ENGLISH TURF.

LONDON, July 29.—The Herald correspondent at Manchester telegraphed as follows:

Mr. P. Lorrill's bay colt Uncus has been sold, with ninety-three pounds, for the Brighton stables, about one mile and a half, to Lord at Brighton, August 5th. Lord Harrington's 5-year-old mare Belphoebe has the top weight, 124 pounds. Mr. Lorrill's Parole has been booked to-day for the Goodwood cup, to be run on Thursday next, at the rate of £100 to £1,000. Mr. Gerton's bay colt Isomany, 4 years old, the winner of the gold cup at Ascot, is the favorite.

WATERY GRAVES.

A Farmer Watering His Horses in a Lake Drowned, Together with Five of His Children.

ST. PAUL, July 29.—John Kranz, of East Farmington, Polk County, Wisconsin, drove into a lake, with six children in his wagon, to water his horses. The horses became frightened and ran into deep water, when the wagon was upset and Kranz and five of the children were drowned. One boy escaped by swimming. The eldest child was a girl of 17.

SUICIDE.

GALENA, Ill., July 29.—William Richardson, of White Oak Springs, Wis., committed suicide on Sunday morning by cutting his throat from ear to ear with a razor, completely severing the windpipe. He was found dead in his room, at the residence of his son-in-law, Augustus Blackstone, leaning against the bed, his clothing and the carpet near him saturated with blood. Deceased had been partially insane for two years.

AN UNNATURAL SON.

DEBQUE, July 29.—The dead body of an old man was found in a wheat field near Waukon last Sunday, which was identified as that of an old Norwegian named Jacobson, whose inhuman son had, after getting his father's property, turned him out of doors. He stayed some time at the Poor House, but returned home three weeks ago, when the son refused to receive him, and on his way back to the Poor House fell and died of exhaustion. The unnatural son was notified of the finding of the body, but said he was too busy to attend to the funeral. So it was laid away at the expense of the county.

ANOTHER CYCLONE.

LAWRENCE, Kansas, July 29.—Last night a terrific cyclone, accompanied by rain, hail, thunder and lightning, passed over Lakin, Kansas, and vicinity. The storm exceeded anything ever before experienced in that vicinity. Reports state that the cyclone did great damage to the crops and property. It lasted nearly two hours, covering a large area.

FRANCE.

PARIS, July 29.—Master Ruyade, of New York, who last year received the second prize for the violin at the Paris Conservatoire, was unanimously awarded the first prize to-day.

VERMILLES, July 29.—The Chamber of Deputies, by a vote of 249 to 166, adopted the proposal of M. Proust for the demolition of the ruins of the Tuilleries. The site will be transformed into a garden.

The Chicago Inter Ocean says the crop of Republicans this year will be very like the wheat crop, and the Confederates have lots of fun in trying to corner it.

"Pa," observed a Danbury boy to his father, "what do Mr. Pitkins and Julia do?" "Talk about in the parlor by themselves," four hours a night, every night in the week." The old gentleman pulled a spint out of the broom, and slowly produced his teeth with a replied: "I got a hunk of meat yesterday, and we had it boiled for dinner, didn't we?" "Yes," "An' had it cold for supper?" "Yes," "An' your mother mashed it up for breakfast."

THE INTELLIGENT JURYMEN.

No. Ever read of it? No. Ever read anything? No. What! never? No. [Applause.] Have you formed any opinion as to this case?

No. Any opinion about anything? No. Never have opinions? No. What! never? No. [Applause.] Ever heard "Pinsford?" No.

Good! You'd do for a jurymen. You are accepted.—New York Graphic.

A HARD WORKER.

The hardest working man in the State, says the New Haven Palladium, lives in Norwalk. By birth he is a Swede, and by occupation an iron-moulder. He is employed in a Norwalk foundry, and every day does what is considered a fair day's work for two men. Commencing work at four o'clock in the morning, he keeps busy until seven at night, not even stopping for his meal. When he goes to his work in the morning he carries a pail containing soup and black bread. The pail he places on a shelf over his bench, and when hungry he grasps the pail in his teeth, and throwing his head back drinks the soup. While he is drinking his fingers are busy packing the sand into the mould, and when he stops for a bite of black bread it is but for an instant. His day's work is always 200 moulds, while 120 moulds is considered a good day's work for a first-class workman. This man seems to have no inter in anything but his work, and makes no unnecessary acquaintances, and discourages all of his companions who show a willingness to associate with him. He is evidently trying to destroy the remembrance of some calamity which has befallen him, or works incessantly to gain money to accomplish some cherished design.

A PROPHECY OF RAILROADING.

A Trip From New York to Chicago for One Dollar.

N. Y. Correspondence Chicago Tribune.

The question of reducing the fare on the elevated railroad in New York from ten cents to five cents, has led to the discussion among the railroad men of the question, "How cheap can any passenger be carried by steam over any railroad?"

Yesterday, while in conversation with the president of one of the largest trunk lines I asked him this question:

"How cheap can you carry passengers on your road and make money, provided you have plenty of passengers?"

"Well," he said, "that depends. If there were enough passengers to carry, we could take passengers over our road and the Lake Shore to Chicago for $2 a head and make money."

"From New York to Chicago for $2 and make money? How could you do it?" I asked.

"Well, we would take them in good passenger cars, running at the rate of 20 miles an hour and make money."

"How do you figure it?"

"Why, we can carry a man weighing 150 pounds as cheaply as we can carry a hog weighing 400 pounds, can't we?"

"Yes," I said, "I should think that you could."

"Well, we would be glad of the chance of getting $10 per car for carrying hogs. Sixty hogs will fill a car and weigh twelve tons. Now, if we can make money carrying twelve tons of hogs for $10 don't you think we could make money carrying fifty passengers, weighing four tons, for the same money?"

"We could," we can carry a full train of twenty cars, fifty passengers to the car."

"Then the fare from Chicago to New York is twenty times to high, is it?" I asked.

"No, not so much as that; but within twenty years you will see passengers taken to Chicago for $5. All we want is sufficient passengers to fill a train. The elevated road which carries 100,000 a day can carry passengers now from New York to Chicago at two cents a mile, with baggage, and small trains at that. The elevated roads can carry them for three cents easily. Why, we carry passengers at half a cent a mile and get rich. Three cents is enough for a fare on the elevated railroads; and $5 from New York to Chicago is enough if we could run larger and slower trains."

Show Talk.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Here we have the great Egyptian Wonder captured in the wilds of South Africa, with a loss of 5,000 men and an expenditure of forty millions of treasures!" exclaimed the showman, shaking his whip in a threatening manner at a stuffed hide in a glass cage.

"Don't go to close," said a mother to her little son; "it might seize you."

"Have no fears, madam, for the safety of your offspring," observed the showman, eloquently; "for does not the Good Book teach us that wonders will never seize? Pass rapidly on to the next cage and view the living skeleton, or the man that married his mother-in-law."

A Midnight Duel.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal writes: "Among the many duels on record as having been fought by Congressmen was one in which James Jackson, of Georgia—who had been and who was afterward a United States Senator—was the challenged party. He was an Englishman by birth, but he went to Savannah when a lad, studied law, was a leading Freemason, and fought gallantly in the Revolutionary war. He killed Lieut. Gov. Wells in 1780 in a duel, and was engaged in several other affairs of honor," until he finally determined to accept a challenge on such terms as would make it his last duel. So he prescribed as the terms that each party, armed with a double barreled gun loaded with buckshot, and with a hunting-knife, should put himself in a skiff to a designated point on opposite sides of the Savannah river. When the city clock struck 12, each should row his skiff to a small island in the middle of the river, which was wooded and covered with underbrush. On arriving at the island each was to moor his skiff, stand by for

STAYING AT HOME.

People Who Shut Themselves Up in

the City—How to Keep Comfortable

—Some of the Advantages of Not

Taking a Summer Vacation.

It has come to be an accepted thing that the fashionable way is to leave town during the summer. We hear people with country houses or cottages by the sea are away with bag and baggage early in the season; while others less well endowed go later and return earlier, as circumstances may allow. Merchants quietly accept July and August as the dull season, closing their stores early in the afternoon and reducing the number of salesmen whom they employ, and our fashionable promenades are well nigh deserted.

"That it is better to be out of the world than out of fashion" is a maxim with many people, and it is a melancholy fact that not a few sacrifice much to the principle thus inculcated. With these the summer trip is a sacred necessity, to be achieved at whatever cost to matter and paternalism. They could not exist in town through summer.

Yet every year there are a number of refined and cultivated people who find it necessary from one cause or another to remain in the city during the summer, and doing so, find life not only endurable but even pleasant.

To attain to this frame of mind it is necessary in the first place that the stay at home shall have made up her mind to accept the situation without grumbling. To have a home to stay at is of itself something to be thankful for, and when the city keeps its normal full of people, the reason for not making one's self comfortable

under one's own roof tree.

At home in town during the heated term is perfectly possible to rest in the fullest sense of the word.

Social duties are in great measure suspended, for society is out of town. One may read or write with no fear of interruption from fashionable callers. There is no need to dress half a dozen times a day, and you may wear a wrapper late into the afternoon, while your lord and master does a striped calico coat and smokes his cigar

in peace at the parlor window. Mrs.

Grundy will neither see him nor you; but that highly decorous matron is at the seashore or at the springs.

With the mercury high among the nineties, you will find it wise to keep indoors during the heat of the day. Shopping and marketing in the early morning are pleasant rather than otherwise; but after ten o'clock keep out of the sun and within doors. To make the house as cool as may be, will call for judgment and contrivance on your part. Shut the sun out, but let in the air. When these two appear incompatible, they may be reconciled by opening the blinds and stretching a wet cloth across the window frame. Let the kitchen fire go out as much as possible. A gas or oil stove answers admirably for hot water, or cooking and does not heat the house like a range or coal stove. Watering the pavement morning and evening will do much to reduce the temperature of the rooms. The floors may be covered with crash over the carpets or with matting, the carpets being removed. Bare floors are cooled of all if the floors admit being uncovered. Linen covers over furniture not only preserve it, but makes the seat a far cooler one. Heavy curtains should, of course, be removed, since they exclude the air. The daily bath is always attain-

THE GAZETTE.
WEDNESDAY, JULY 30, 1879.

COOKSVILLE.

—Some farmers are now through with their cutting of grain and next week the "threshers" will give their welcome hum. —The dry weather is affecting the tobacco fields and unless rain soon comes many fields will be a light crop.

—Corn promises a good yield. Apples will be scarce this fall in this vicinity.

—We have had the fresh raspberries from our garden for over one month from three varieties. Perhaps some can do better than this.

—Everybody is suited with the Republican nominations for State officers, and we predict the ticket will be elected as easily as it was nominated.

—Our millers, Messrs Rice & Barber, are full of business at the mill. They are making a superior article of flour and it finds quick sale.

—The "Woman's Congress" meets in Madison some time this fall, but the Equal Suffrage society of Union met at the house of J. T. Dow last Friday, and quite a number of the Cooksville ladies spent the afternoon very pleasantly with them.

—A fine shower this afternoon.

—Charles Miller has finished his harvesting and to-day commenced his threshing and marketed five loads of barley. This is driving business.

UNION.

—Elder Rodgers lectures in the Baptist church next Sunday evening on the subject of temperance.

—If they had been city girls we should not have thought it strange that they saw "a man pitching off hay with a horse-rake, and another man mowing oats with a cradle."

—J. E. Ring and family have moved to Evansville. They have rented a house for the present, but will probably make Evansville their permanent home. The family will be greatly missed, especially Miss Alice, as she has been leader of the choir for some time.

—The Woman's Convention of this place still runs at full blast, meeting semi-weekly. The joyousness and order in their mode of warfare for they do not admit any newspaper correspondents.

—A little dash of rain Monday afternoon had the dust and refreshed verdure generally.

—Tobacco culturists are on the lookout for hail.

—Miss Lizzie Gillies has returned to Fennell to finish her school.

—W. H. Vanhise has shipped for New Jersey to visit relatives in that State.

—Harvest help is plenty at $1.50 to $2 per day.

—Grain has ripened very slowly on account of the recent cool weather.

—James Ingalls and L. M. Dayenport each start out with a new threshing machine this fall. We believe that 15 cows' or bushel for oats, and other grain at corresponding figures, will be their prices this fall.

MILTON.

—Henry M. Lewis, who for a long time was employed in the drug store of the late H. M. Haven, was in town Monday visiting friends. Lewis is now, and has been for several years, in the employ of a Chicago drug house.

The hail storm Monday afternoon did much damage to the tobacco crops of R. Smith and Milo Collins. Their crops were very forward, and that of Smith's being Spanish, suffered more than Collin's crop. The heavy wind preceding the hail blew the tobacco over, and only the leaves on one side of the stalk were perforated. The late crops were not damaged materially.

Last Monday Willie Whitford was handling a pistol that he knew was loaded, when it went off, the ball entering at the base of his left thumb and lodging in the wrist. Dr. Burden probed the wound but was unable to find the ball. As a result of his carelessness the boy will have a very sore arm at a painful wound, and it should be a warning to him and the other boys about town who carry pop-guns.

The Odd Fellows of this village participated in the funeral services of Mr. W. C. Banks, at Edgerton, on Tuesday.

—Williams & Borden shipped a car load of oats to Waukesha on Tuesday.

The threshing machine began its work here on Tuesday, but we have not been able to ascertain the yield of grain per acre.

—Rev. A. L. P. Loomis left this village on Monday night for the Lake Superior country, where he will enjoy a three weeks' vacation from his pastoral duties. His pulpit will be filled regularly during his absence.

SHOPIERE.

—Most farmers in this vicinity have finished cutting grain, and the threshing machine will soon be running again.

—We are informed that we are to have a good grain market here. The Railroad Company have put a stock yard at the depot and scales and coal sheds have been erected, so that we expect lively times at fall.

—Mr. and Mrs. Cooling, of Daytonport, Iowa, have been spending a few days in this village, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Sears.

—A good shower is needed.

—There will be a concert at the Congregational church Sunday evening.

—Mr. Sears shipped two car loads of flour to Europe last week. That is saying considerable in favor of Shopiere flour.

—The Janesville Gazette is one of the best papers in the State. Try it.

—Mr. Shultz, of Michigan, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shultz.

—There will be a temperance meeting in the Congregational church next Tuesday evening. We hope there will be a large attendance. Captain Cleghorn, of Clinton, is expected to lecture.

—Key Mr. Webb to take a trip to Kansas on the excursion, leaving Beloit the 6th of August. We hope he may have a pleasant journey and a safe return.

—A T. Adams sells fine salt at $1.25 per barrel.

—We have just learned of the death of Mrs. Hattie.

An account of the scuffle at Mr. Shaysmaker's will be given next week.

—Mrs. F. Bostwick is visiting at Milton.

—Mrs. Emma Chamberlain is visiting at Berlin, Wis.

An Old Custom.

A custom which has prevailed in the Lehigh Valley, near Allentown, from time without date, of visiting a big rock on the Lehigh mountain in harvest time, was not so well observed in this year as heretofore. The Allen's own Democrat has this to say of this custom: "The rock is situated at the highest point of the mountain, and commands a view of the surrounding country, which is bounded only by the power of the human eye. The height of it from its base to its highest point is nearly five feet, while at the same time it is 1,260 feet above water level. The average circumference of them (being a pair) is almost 2 feet. In harvest time, from time immemorial, it has been the custom of the dwellers in the valley and on the hills, and in the towns which are to be seen in panoramic views from the top of these mountain rocks, to make a visit or pilgrimage to the top of the mountain and to the top of the rock—the number sometimes aggregating thousands—to see the fields around dotted with the golden sheaves of grain. The farmers being very busy on week days, take Sunday for the visit. And the townspeople, many of them, for some reason, take the same day. And so there usually is a crowd on the Sunday which comes in the midst of harvest each year—being usually the first after the Fourth of July.

GIVE THE CHEESE A CHANCE.

A Limburger Brought into too Strong Competition.
Adrian Press.

One day last week a young member of the legal fraternity of this city, noted for his modesty and genial disposition, felt an irresistible longing for a good business like saloon lunch, and through a strong temperance advocate, the hot weather and boarding house has (his wife was on a vacation) served to strengthen his ardent desire for a glass of lager and some Limburger cheese, and being unable to longer resist temptation, he sauntered into a North Main street saloon, one of the popular resorts for business men, the proprietor of which was a German, whose reputation for cool lager and odorless Limburger cheese had him in the van of his profession. Throwing himself into a chair, he took off his hat, wiped the moisture from his brow, brushed back his blonde hair, and called for lager. A foaming glass was brought him, when he inquired somewhat anxiously: "Have you got some Limburger?"

"Oh, yes, I got plenty."

"Well, is it good and strong?"

"For you dakes me, eh? I got der pesht Limburger always vot is made."

"Oh, well, you needn't get excited; just bring me a piece," and the legal gentleman leaned back in his chair and rested his head on the table.

Jake went off and soon returned with a piece of the desired article, which he placed before his customer with evident pride. The young man sipped his lager and nibbled his cheese, and finally setting aside his lager, he devoted himself exclusively to the latter, and soon a look of dissatisfaction spread over his countenance, and, calling his host, he exclaimed, "I thought you said this was strong cheese? There isn't any smell to it; what are you giving me?"

"Hail; what's de matter mit you?" retorted Jake, hotly; "I dinks you peen a lef le off, ain't it? Ven you shoud gonuch Duedo or Deetroyut, you don't find no such robbete like dot, no air?" and he came up to the table, and leaning over the table, which stood near Charles's feet, took in a long "breath" through his nose; suddenly he straightened up, and with a look of mingled disgust and resentment, he pointed to the lawyer's pedal extremities, and blurted out: "Sheese Gryse, I should dinks sod say, Mister, shoost you put down dose feet, un; giddid sheese some chances, py golly, und yod und him so shtrong as you want it; I peen na fool, py tam sight."

We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. BLANKS!
FOR Constables' Accounts with Rock County AT GAZETTE OFFICE.
my10daw15

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 30, 1879.
CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

—You can find some who even grumble at this weather.
—One of the constables says that it is "dumb quiet" in the courts. That expresses it.

—Justice Brooks is busy to-day attending to the Lantry-Concannon replevin case.

—The model of the wonderful Strasburg clock will be exhibited in this city next week.

—The Janesville Guards will drill Friday night this week instead of Tuesday night.

—Everybody hopes for a big trade in the fall, but no one wants even a little fall in the trade.

—Prof. Jackson's school will open September 15. There promises to be a goodly attendance.

—Mrs. Colby, of Benton Harbor, Mich., who formerly resided here, is now making her Janesville friends a visit.

—There seems to be a falling off of interest in the thermometer. Few stop to stare in its face these days.

—Mr. H. F. Bliss and family have sent their camping utensils to Lake Geneva and will follow after them to-morrow bright and early.

—A first ward man has hit upon a sure thing to keep burglars from breaking into his house. It is to hang his breeches on the front gate with the wallet left in the pocket. No charge for the recipe.

—Two of the five boys who escaped lately from the Industrial School at Waukesha, and who passed through this city, have been captured at Caledonia, Ill., and taken back to Waukesha.

—An exchange says that the badness of an egg can sometimes be told by shaking it near the holder's ear. We suggest that a surer way is to break it near the holder's nose. It don't need any shaking then.

—When the harvest is over and some of the gleaners begin to quarrel that hard-earned $2 a day, and get to quarreling over which has the best record on binding, there may be more stir in the Police Court.

—Aaron Sonnebom, of Sonnebom Bros., has gone East to buy new goods again. They have sold a large amount of clothing, this season and there seems to be no let-up. They will be prepared for a big fall trade too.

—The reserved seats for Pinafore are selling rapidly, and before the doors open to-morrow night every seat in the lower part of the house will be taken. Get your tickets at once, unless you want to sit in the gallery.

—The new depot of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad will soon be occupied. The tracks are being now changed so that there will be little or no switching across High or Jackson streets compared with what has been. All will rejoice heartily in this improvement.

—One drunken tramp got possession of a woodshed near the gas works yesterday afternoon and terrified the neighborhood, and refused to move on. He changed his mind when he saw the whole police force marching up to capture him, and he hastily decamped.

—Three different Sunday School excursions and picnics are being talked up for next week. It will be rather difficult for some of the children to get around to join all three schools next Sunday, as they meet at the same hour, but they'll try it. New class books have been provided in anticipation of the rush of new scholars.

—Congressman Williams has an excellent photograph of Mrs. Fasset's celebrated picture of the Electoral Commission. It presents the faces of all those connected therewith, and affords an opportunity of seeing life-like representations of many of the most prominent men in the nation. The picture is at present in the window of King's bookstore.

HO FOR A HOME GAME!
The Rockford base ball club will play a game with the Mutuals on Friday of this week. The game will probably take place on the Fair grounds, and will be the first opportunity of witnessing a base ball game in Janesville this year.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVANSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 81 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m., at 62 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m., at 63 degrees above; and at 1 o'clock p. m., at 85 degrees above. Clear.

One year ago to-day at 7 o'clock a. m., the thermometer stood at 71 degrees above and at 2 o'clock p. m., at 84 degrees above.

The indications are, slightly warmer; southeast to southwest winds, clear or fair weather and stationary or slowly falling barometer.

BODIES WANTED.

One of our high-minded citizens took a letter out of the postoffice yesterday, and on opening it found it to be from some stranger in Freeport, asking him to send, if he would, six more bodies at once. The reader of the letter was shocked and mystified, and on examining the letter more closely found it was not intended for him but for another person of similar name. The clue being thus given to the intentions of committing the horrible crime of body-snatching, he hastened to inform the Marshal of the shocking revelation which he had thus become in possession of. The Marshal together with his informant worked cautiously on the case yesterday afternoon, and last evening they visited the man for whom the letter was intended. They carefully closeted him, and began to ask him puzzling questions in the hope of getting him to "sneak." The man was greatly perplexed, and did not know what they were driving at for some time, but finally the letter was produced. They expected to see him wilt when he read it, but he only smiled, and explained that it was only an order for six more buggy bodies, many of which he had already sold in a legitimate manner.

The Anxious Wife Has Gone to Identify the Body.

A Sad Mystery.

A young man named Herman Smith has been missing for about six weeks, and not even a probable solution of the mystery has been found until now, when the report comes from Chicago that a body answering his description has been washed ashore from the lake. Smith is a man aged about thirty-two. He came from Champaign, Illinois, to this city about five years ago and entered the employ of the Harris works, where he has been retained most of the time since. Shortly after taking up his residence in this city he married a daughter of Mr. Charles Tall, and lived happily and contentedly here, until six weeks ago last Monday he started for Chicago. His health was such that he found it difficult to go out into the hot harvest field to attend to any machinery, and for this and other reasons he thought it better to see if he could not get steady work elsewhere. The next day after arriving in Chicago he wrote a postal to his wife stating his safe arrival there, but nothing else of particular interest. He intended to return so as to resume work the following Wednesday in case he found no better employment, but he failed to return, and since then nothing has been learned of his whereabouts.

As Smith bore a good reputation for steady conduct and constant industry, his mysterious disappearance could not well be accounted for. Information had been sought from various sources, but no trace of him had been discovered. Yesterday afternoon his friends happened to have their attention drawn to the fact that last Thursday night a dead body was washed ashore at Rogers' park, near Chicago, and the following description was given in the Chicago papers of last Saturday:

Another body was washed ashore at Rogers' park Thursday night, and found yesterday morning by Neil Kyle. It was that of a sailor. Deceased was about six feet high and was dressed in a heavy blue woolen shirt, blue drilling blouse, a heavy black sack coat, black pants, blue overalls, and cowhide boots. On his right arm was the figure of a female, with an American flag ship and eagle. Nothing was found on him except a single bladed knife and a pocket hankerchief. In a corner of the latter was tied $2.25 cents in silver. He had evidently been in the water about a month. Justice Jackson held an inquest and the verdict was "found drowned."

The description answered that of the missing man so completely that the friends are quite certain that it is he. One point of difference is in the fact that when Smith left here he had shoes, but no boots but in other respects they deem the description perfect. Mrs. Smith started at once for Chicago, and is to-day trying to get further particulars and to ascertain more certainly whether her worst fears are thus dreadfully realized.

THE FLAG PRESENTATION.

Arrangements have now been completed for the presentation of the flag to the Janesville Guards. The date fixed upon is next Wednesday evening, August 6th, and the place, the Opera house. A telegram received from Captain T. J. Lawler, of the Rockford Rifles, states that the company will arrive here by special train at 6 o'clock on that evening. They will be met at the depot by the Bower City Band and the Janesville Guards, and will be escorted to the Myers house. The street parade thus given will be a fine one. The Rockford Rifles are known throughout the West for their fine appearance and excellence in drill, and our citizens have long felt a desire to see them face to face. They will make the Myers house their headquarters. The evening's entertainment will be given in the Opera house at 8 o'clock, and will consist of music by the Band, a double male quartet, the Mignon quartet, and solos by some of our favorite local singers. The presentation of the flag will be made by O. H. Fethers, Esq., and the response on behalf of the company will be made by Congressman Williams. The tickets have been placed at twenty-five cents each to all parts of the house, and reserved seats can be secured at Moseley's without extra charge. After the entertainment there will be a dance, the large dining room of the Myers house having been secured for that purpose. The hotel will be thrown open to the participants, and every possible facility given for a good time. There will be much of interest in the occasion throughout, and the entertainment and dance will be largely attended.

H. M. S. PINAFORE.

Great interest is excited in the promised production of Pinafore to-morrow evening at the Opera House by Haverly's Chicago Chorus Choir Company. The Company opened in Milwaukee Monday evening to a crowded house. All the papers speaking of the event describe the audience as very enthusiastic, and the encores as numerous. The chorus at the finale of the first act was called out twice. It is pronounced as the finest chorus work ever heard in Milwaukee. After appearing in Janesville the company will go to Madison, a special train leaving after the entertainment to-morrow night. At Madison there will be a crush to see them. A special train from Portage has been arranged which will bring about 100 persons to Madison to hear the opera, Conductor Ryan being in charge of the excursion. The Madison papers say everybody is going to Pinafore. Wherever the opera is given by this company it is bound to draw immensely. The seats have met with a really sale here, and a full house is ensured. The following incident which is going the rounds is given as illustrative of the popularity of Pinafore:

"Who comforted Job?" was the question put by the pastor of the Norwich University Church to the scholars of the Sunday school last Sunday. A bright eyed little lady announced her readiness to respond, by raising an agitated hand. The pastor's eye caught the zealous activity of his little scholar, and, pleased to gratify the child's desire, he said: "Well, Grace, speak up now! Who was it comforted Job?" And the response came clear and with sincerity: "His sisters, and his cousins and his aunts." This brief quotation from "Pinafore" produced a momentary sensation; but the good pastor quietly informed the child that Job was comforted long before the days of that popular comic opera, and the review proceeded, and the laugh also.

THE AUGUST MEETING.

Minneapolis, Sept. 1st to 4th.
Quincy, September, 9th to 13th.
Chicago, Sept. 22d to 27th.
St. Louis, Oct. 1st to 4th.

The Milwaukee Driving Park Association will give $10,000. People throughout the State will have the best opportunity they ever had to witness the finest races ever given in America. The races will occur at a time when thousands of people want to visit the metropolis on business or pleasure, and there is no reason why the town should not be as full that it will hold over. Everybody is invited to come and get acquainted with our people, and have as good a time as they ever had. Every facility will be given for enjoyment, and a generous and hearty welcome will be extended to the friends of the cream city throughout the Northwest.—Pek's Milwaukee Sun.
